

Four Seasons Farmhouse became a holiday-home in 2000.

Before, it was the owners' family home, for four generations, ever since great-grandfather bought it.

This Farmhouse, going back in time, was almost certainly a refreshment point on the Via Francigena.

Here the pilgrims stopped to eat. They received treatments and assistance in the hospital opposite the house.

The ancient external walls are made of local stone contrasting with the charme of the interior: there the modern and the practical furniture sets side by side with antique and family heirlooms.

Outside there is a large flowery garden with sunny and shady areas. There is even an arbor and under it a travertine table to eat in the open air. There is a barbecue to roast meat, a sofa and the armchairs. Under the shade of an old tree, there is a stone bench.

The swimming pool is nestled at the end of the garden; it has a big solarium well equipped with umbrellas, sun beds and loungers.

THE ROOMS

- Spring room: this room has the colors of the Spring, the time of rebirth. Purple rosebuds decorate the light green walls. - Winter room: the winter brings snow and ice. The walls of this bedroom remind us of the opalescent white snow. However the atmosphere inside is not cold but cozy and welcoming. In this room there are some interesting pieces of furniture which have belonged to owners' family for years. The head-board is a part of the old iron gate of the house and one of the bedside tables is an old terracotta vase which their forefathers used to store olive oil. Bed 190 x 160. is a spacious wardrobe, a little desk, a large ceiling fan and a mosquito screen at the window. There is an ensuite bathroom with shower. Sleeps 2.

- Autumn room: this room has the colors of the grape-harvest and of the falling leaves. The leaves even decorate the canopy above the bed (190 x 150 cm). The walls are green like the Autumnal grass and there is a small old green school desk used as a writing table. Moreover there is a cupboard, a large ceiling fan and mosquito screen at the window. The bathroom is ensuite and spacious. It has two washbasins and a hydromassage shower. There is also an old night-stand in marble which has been in the owners' family for generations. Sleeps 2.

The bed in this room has rustic canopy made from linen, ropes and wooden logs. The comfortable bed is 190 x 160 cm. The antique bedside tables were a present from an elderly aunt. The table is a modified base of an older Singer sewing machine. In addition there is a wardrobe. At the French window there is a mosquito screen.
